Good afternoon, Miguel,
 Sitting in meeting w City of Flint, debating the allocation of funds from HHS. Funds can be used , apparently, to replace residential hot water heaters. I thought, though, that I read or heard of a study that indicated that water heaters are NOT source of legionella (Flint Data Summit) nor a repository of lead. That second issue , whether it's a source of lead though , I can't find a source, though
 Can you assist, sir ?

Good to see you again as well!

At some point when they get around to it, the presentations will be posted online, but I assume that will be in pdf format. I am attaching the ppt file in case you want to use any of the slides, but obviously do not share the ppt file. I am also attaching the spreadsheet file with the LSL replacement before/after sampling. This file contains residents' addresses so please do not share this file.

See you at the town hall tonight.
